Eira Stonewake

Name: Eira Stonewake
Role: Boatwright / Ship Repair Specialist
Ancestry: Dwarf
Age: 62
Disposition:
Direct, driven, perfectionist.
Eira doesn't tolerate poor workmanship — especially her own.

Eira is compact but powerful, her arms thick with muscle from years of shaping wood and hauling hull frames.
Her hands are rough and calloused, marked by small cuts and resin stains.
Her dark hair is braided tightly to keep it out of her face while working, and her short beard is neatly maintained with small copper rings.
She wears layered work leathers and a reinforced apron covered in tools and wood shavings.
Her workshop smells of:
• fresh-cut timber
• resin and pitch
• salt and sea air
She is almost always working on something.
Even when speaking.

Role in Moonrest Haven
Eira is responsible for:
• repairing fishing boats
• reinforcing hulls for winter conditions
• crafting small vessels
• salvaging usable materials from wreckage
Without Eira:
Moonrest loses access to the sea.
And without the sea:
The village does not survive.

Villagers know:
• Eira builds the strongest boats on the island
• she works constantly, often late into the night
• she has a temper when interrupted mid-task
Despite this:
She is trusted completely.
If Eira says a boat is safe…
It is.

Personality

Eira is intense and focused.
Traits:
• Perfectionist
• Blunt
• Highly skilled
• Deep pride in her craft
Typical dialogue:
"A weak hull doesn't fail slowly. It fails once."
